Learn about House Call, an in-home clinician visit.

Had more to say at your last doctor visit? Tell us.

When you know more about your health needs, your doctors can, too. This is exactly what a House Call¹ visit can do for you. A House Call clinician dedicates time to listen to your concerns and needs and to answer your questions. And they come to your home at no additional cost.

How does the House Call service work?

It starts with a visit.

In addition to listening and providing answers, a licensed clinician will come to your home to fill out a health survey, perform basic screenings, and go over your prescriptions and survey results with you.² After your House Call visit, we'll share any results with you and your doctor.³

This yearly visit doesn't replace other care services, but helps support the care you receive from your doctors. It helps you stay on top of your health in between doctor appointments.

What screenings are done?

The clinician who visits you will record:

- Your height, weight, and body mass index (BMI).
- Your blood pressure and other vital signs.
- Your responses to a health assessment survey.

How long does the visit take?

It takes about an hour. During this time, your clinician will go over the program with you and fill out the survey.

Who can be with me during a visit?

You're welcome to have a family member, friend, or representative join you for your visit.

What do I get with a House Call visit?

You'll get more time to talk with a medical professional about your healthcare needs, share any concerns, and ask questions. And all in the comfort of your home and at your own pace. Our clinician may learn more about you and your health to share with you and your doctors.

It's completely optional.

Whether you choose to have a House Call visit or not, your benefits or premium won't be affected. And please know, all information you share with us is kept private.

It's at no additional cost to you.

We have teamed up with Signify Health to bring you this in-home care program. This is just one of the ways we are working toward our main goal of improving your health and quality of life. Signify Health has vast experience providing expert care and health services. Like us, they believe it's worth taking the time to care for you and support you and your primary care doctor.
